PROGRAM CLASSIFICATION STRUCTURE

The following discussion and definitions of Program Classification Structure (PCS) Categories that are used in higher education to report expenditures by function or purpose were extracted from the online NACUBO Financial Accounting and Reporting Manual for Higher Education and the Missouri Higher Education Uniform Financial Reporting Manual (2006 revision). This document will be used to review the current classification and coding of DeptIDs at the University of Missouri System. It is important to understand that this is a hierarchal document. An expense is evaluated and classified, beginning with the primary programs or instruction, research, and public service and followed by the supporting activities, and finishing with auxiliary and hospital operations.

INSTRUCTION

The instruction category includes expenditures for all activities that are part of the University’s instruction program. Expenses for credit and noncredit courses; academic, vocational, and technical instruction; remedial and tutorial instruction; and regular, special, and extension sessions should be included.

Expenses for departmental research and public service that are not separately budgeted should be included in this classification. This category excludes expenses for those academic personnel whose primary assignment is administration—for example, academic deans. However, expenditures for department chairpersons and administrators for whom instruction is an important role are included here.

Faculty sabbaticals, professional leaves, early retirement and related costs of instructional staff should be included as a cost of the instructional program.

The instruction category includes the following subcategories:
   1.1 On-Campus General Academic Instruction
   1.3 Community Education
   1.4 Off-Campus General Academic Instruction

1.1 On-Campus General Academic Instruction

Expenditures Included:

• Instructional activities as described above that are carried out during the academic year and offered for credit as part of a formal postsecondary education degree or certification program.
• Open University, short courses, and home study activities falling within this classification and offered for credit.
• Instructional information technology expenditures.
• Departmental research and public service that is not separately budgeted.

Not Included:

• Instructional offerings that are part of programs leading toward degrees or certificates at levels below the higher educational level, such as adult basic education.
1.3 Community Education.

Expenditures Included:
- Expenses for formally organized and/or separately budgeted instructional activities that do not generally result in credit toward any formal postsecondary degree or certificate.
- Noncredit instructional offerings carried out by the institution's extension division as well as noncredit offerings that are part of the adult education or continuing education program.
- Activities associated with programs leading toward a degree or certificate at a level below the higher education level, such as adult basic education.
- Tutoring offered as a student service and credit is received.

Not Included:
- Activities such as camps for band, cheerleaders, sports etc. (see 3.2 Community Service.)

1.4 Off-Campus General Academic Instruction. This subcategory follows the same criteria as 1.1, On-Campus General Academic Instruction, except the location at which the class is taught. This category is specifically required by the State of Missouri.

RESEARCH

The research category includes all expenditures for activities specifically organized to produce research, whether commissioned by an agency external to the institution or separately budgeted by an organizational unit within the institution. Subject to these conditions, the category includes expenses for individual and/or project research as well as that of institutes and research centers. This category does not include all sponsored programs nor is it necessarily limited to sponsored research, since internally supported research programs, if separately budgeted, may be included in this category.

Expenses for departmental research that are separately budgeted are included in this category. However, the research category does not include expenses for departmental research that are not separately budgeted. Such expenses are included in the instructional category.

The research category includes the following subcategories:
- 2.1 Institutes and Research Centers
- 2.2 Individual and Project Research

Note: Research Incentive Fund distributions to departments or divisions that are used to fund research support as opposed to directly fund research should not be included in the Research category. Research support should be included in academic support (see 4.6 Academic Administration and Personnel Development.)

2.1 Institutes and Research Centers

Expenditures Included:
• Expenses for research activities that are part of a formal research organization created to manage a number of research efforts.
• Examples include the Agricultural Experiment Station and campus identified research institutes and research centers.

Not Included:
• Federally funded research and development centers, which, for public institutions, should continue to be classified as independent operations.

2.2 Individual and Project Research

Expenditures Included:
• Expenses for research activities that are managed within academic departments and are separately budgeted. Such activities may have been undertaken as the result of a research contract or grant or through a specific allocation of the institution's general resources.

Not Included:
• Departmental research carried out as part of the instructional program (see 1.1 General Academic Instruction.)
• Departmental research conducted primarily as a personnel development activity (see 4.6 Academic Administration and Personnel Development.)

PUBLIC SERVICE

The public service category includes expenses for activities established primarily to provide non-instructional services beneficial to individuals and groups external to the institution. These activities include community service programs (excluding instructional activities) and cooperative extension services. Included in this category are conferences, institutes (other than research), general advisory services, reference bureaus, radio and television, consulting, and similar non-instructional services to particular sectors of the community.

The public service category includes the following subcategories:
  3.2 Community Service
  3.3 Cooperative Extension Service
  3.4 Public Broadcasting Services

3.2 Community Service

Expenditures Included:

• Expenses for activities organized and carried out to provide general community services, excluding instructional activities. Community service activities make available to the public various resources and special capabilities that exist within the institution.
• Examples include conferences and institutes, general advisory services and reference bureaus, consultation, testing services (for example, soil testing, carbon dating, structural testing), and similar activities.
Activities included in this subcategory are generally sponsored and managed outside the context of both the agricultural and urban extension programs and of the institution's public broadcasting station.

3.3 Cooperative Extension Service

Expenditures Included:
- Expenses for non-instructional public service activities established as the result of cooperative extension efforts between the institution and outside agencies such as the U.S. Department of Agriculture's extension service and the affiliated state extension services.
- This subcategory is intended primarily for land-grant colleges and universities and includes both agricultural extension and urban extension services.
- The distinguishing feature of activities in this subcategory is that programmatic and fiscal control is shared by the institution with the Department of Agriculture's extension service, the related state extension services, and agencies of local government.

3.4 Public Broadcasting Services

Expenditures Included:
- Expenses for operation and maintenance of broadcasting services operated outside the context of the institution's instruction, research, and academic support programs (i.e. public radio station operations.)

Items Excluded:
- Broadcasting services conducted primarily in support of instruction (classified in the subcategory ancillary support)
- Broadcasting services operated primarily as a student service activity (classified in the subcategory social and cultural development)
- Broadcasting services that are independent operations (classified in the subcategory independent operations/institutional).

Note: This category is a change from current practice.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT

The academic support category includes expenses incurred to provide support services for the institution's primary missions: instruction, research, and public service. It includes the retention, preservation, and display of educational materials, such as libraries, museums, and galleries; the provision of services that directly assist the academic functions of the institution, such as demonstration schools associated with a department, school, or college of education; media such as audio-visual services and technology such as computing support; academic administration (including academic deans but not department chairpersons) and personnel development providing administration support and management direction to the three primary missions; and separately budgeted support for course and curriculum development. For institutions that currently charge some of the expenses--for example, computing support,--directly to the various operating units of the institution, this category does not reflect such expenses.

This category includes the following subcategories:

4.4 Academic Support Information Technology

Expenditures Included:
• Expenses for formally organized and/or separately budgeted academic support information technology. When at all possible these costs should be charged directly to the three primary programs.

Note: The State of Missouri does not officially recognize this subcategory and the University of Missouri does not use it.

4.5 Ancillary Support

Expenditures Included:
• Expenses for organized activities that provide support services to the three primary programs of instruction, research, and public service, but are not appropriately classified in the previous subcategories.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Public institutions, after adoption of GASB Statements 34 and 35, should report tuition discounts and allowances and scholarships generally as reductions of tuition and fees revenues. Certain amounts of such items should still be reported as expenses in general-purpose financial statements.

Institutional resources provided to students as financial aid should be recorded as scholarship allowances in amounts up to and equal to amounts owed by students to the institution. Institutional resources provided in excess of amounts owed by the students to the institution and refunded to students should be recorded as expenses.

Institutions, in applying this guidance on allocating financial aid between revenue discounts and expenses, will initially record all aid as an expense and then determine the amount of aid that should be reported as a reduction of revenues. Accordingly, it is still advisable to maintain expense accounts for aid granted.

Note: At the University of Missouri all financial aid is recorded in the account range 76xxxx.

The scholarships and fellowships category includes expenses for scholarships and fellowships-from restricted or unrestricted funds-in the form of grants to students, resulting from selection by the institution or from an entitlement program. The category also includes trainee stipends, prizes, and awards. Trainee stipends awarded to individuals who are not enrolled in formal course work should be charged to instruction, research, or public service. Recipients of grants are not required to perform service to the institution as consideration for the grant, nor are they expected to repay the amount of the grant to the funding source. When services are required in exchange for financial assistance, as in the College Work-Study program, charges should be classified as expenses of the department or organizational unit to which the service is rendered. Aid to students in the form of tuition or fee remissions also should be included in this category.

This category includes the following subcategories:
  8.1 Scholarships
  8.2 Fellowships

8.1 Scholarships

Expenditures Included:
  • Grants-in-aid, trainee stipends, tuition and fee waivers, and prizes to undergraduate students.

- Remission of tuition or fees granted because of faculty or staff status, or family relationship of students to faculty or staff, should be recorded as staff benefits expenses in the appropriate functional expense category.
- Student loans

Depreciation

Depreciation expense should be calculated in accordance with the institution's capitalization and depreciation policies.

- Depreciation expense is considered both a functional and natural expense classification under GASB Statements 34 and 35.
- In addition, when functional expenses are reported in the Statement of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Assets, depreciation expense can be allocated to other functions such as instruction, research and student services, or allocated only to plant operation and maintenance expenses, or reported separately.

Note: At the University of Missouri, depreciation is recorded as a single line item in the plant fund and is not allocated to other functions.

Auxiliary Enterprises, Auxiliary Enterprises-Other, and Other Self-Supporting Enterprises.

An auxiliary enterprise exists to furnish goods or services to students, faculty, staff, other institutional departments, or incidentally to the general public, and charges a fee directly related to, although not necessarily equal to, the cost of the goods or services. The distinguishing characteristic of an auxiliary enterprise is that it is managed as an essentially self-supporting activity. In addition, these activities are ancillary to the operation of the institution. They are provided as a convenience but are not integral to carrying out the primary missions of instruction, research, and public service. Examples are residence halls, food services, intercollegiate athletics (if essentially self-supporting), college stores, faculty clubs, parking, golf courses, faculty housing. Student health services, when operated as an auxiliary enterprise, also are included. Hospitals, although they may serve students, faculty, or staff, are classified separately because of their financial significance.

The auxiliary enterprise category includes all expenses relating to the operation of auxiliary enterprises, including expenses for operation and maintenance of plant, depreciation (if allocated to functional expense categories) and administration. Also included are other direct and indirect costs, whether charged directly as expenses or allocated as a proportionate share of costs of other departments or units. To ensure that data regarding individual auxiliary enterprises are complete and adequate for management decisions, cost data should be prepared using full costing methods. Full costing means that the costs attributed to each enterprise includes a portion of indirect costs related to that enterprise, as well as the costs directly attributable to its operation.

This category includes the following subcategories:

- Auxiliary Enterprises—Student. This subcategory includes expenses for auxiliary enterprise activities primarily intended to furnish services to students. A student health service, when operated as an auxiliary enterprise, is included. However, intercollegiate athletics are excluded from this category.

- Auxiliary Enterprises-Faculty/Staff. This subcategory includes expenses for auxiliary enterprise activities primarily intended to provide a service to the faculty, staff or both. Such activities include the faculty club, faculty-staff parking, and faculty housing.

- Intercollegiate Athletics. This subcategory includes expenses for an intercollegiate sports program when the program is operated in accordance with the definition of an auxiliary enterprise (essentially self-supporting).

- Auxiliary Enterprises-Other. NACUBO Advisory Report 99-2 added this subcategory. This subcategory includes expenses for auxiliary enterprise activities primarily intended to furnish goods and services that are related to the higher education mission. Customers for these goods and services generally are not students, faculty, or staff. Entities of this type are formed to meet the geographic and public service needs of a region and generally relate to an institution’s mission of teaching, research, or public service. Examples of such an entity would be a drug testing center or a university press department.
• Other Self-Supporting Enterprises. This subcategory includes activities that were established primarily to provide goods and services to other internal units on a fee for service basis. The following characteristics assist in identifying these units:

  o They are self-supporting units that operate on a break-even basis for those goods and services offered to other units.

  o They could provide, to a lesser extent, the same goods and services to faculty, staff, students, and related entities.

  o The goods and services are provided at an institutional level. This characteristic excludes enterprises that only serve units within the same department. For example, a telecommunications department that services the entire institution would be considered other self-supporting while the chemistry stores department that only services other chemistry units would be reported net within academic support under functional expense reporting.

  o This classification does not preclude the current reporting practices for entities included in other functional categories.

  o Expenses incurred under the subcategory Other Self-Supporting Enterprises should be netted against revenues since the predominance of transactions is internal.

Auxiliary Enterprises—Depreciation. This subcategory includes depreciation expense for facilities, equipment and infrastructure assets of the institution’s auxiliary enterprises if the institution chooses to allocate depreciation among its functional expense categories.

Hospitals. The hospital category includes all expenses associated with the patient care operations of a hospital, including nursing and other professional services, general services, administrative services, fiscal services, depreciation (if allocated to functional expense categories) and charges for physical plant operations. Also included are other direct and indirect costs, whether charged directly as expenses or allocated as a proportionate share of costs of other departments and units. Expenses for activities that take place within the hospital, but that are categorized more appropriately as instruction or research, are excluded from this category and accounted for in the appropriate categories.

This category includes the following subcategories:

• Direct Patient Care. This subcategory includes expenses for direct patient care such as prevention, diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation. Patient care activities solely for the benefit of the institution’s students should be classified as student services.

• Health Care Supportive Services. This subcategory includes expenses for organized activities that are unique to a teaching hospital, health services center, or clinic, and that directly support the provision of health care but cannot be considered part of the provision of direct patient care. Included in this subcategory are such activities as the pharmacy, blood bank, and X-ray services.
• Administration of Hospitals. This subcategory includes expenses for the day-to-day functioning and the long-range viability of the hospital, excluding physical plant operations.

• Physical Plant Operations for Hospitals. This subcategory includes expenses for activities related directly to maintaining the grounds and facilities of a hospital as well as providing utility services.

• Depreciation of Hospital Facilities and Equipment. This subcategory includes depreciation expense for facilities, equipment and infrastructure assets of the hospital if the institution chooses to allocate depreciation among its functional expense categories.

Independent Operations.

The independent operations category includes expenses that are independent of or unrelated to, but that may enhance the primary missions of, an institution. This category generally is limited to expenses associated with major federally funded research laboratories. Excluded are expenses associated with property owned and managed as investments of the institution’s endowment funds.

This subcategory includes the following subcategories:

• Independent Operations/Institutional. This subcategory includes separately organized operations owned or controlled by an institution but unrelated to, or independent of, the institution’s missions. This subcategory generally includes commercial enterprises operated by the institution but not established to provide services to students, faculty, or staff or to provide support to one or more of the institution’s missions. Activities operated as auxiliary enterprises (i.e. those established to provide a service to students, faculty, or staff and charging a fee related to the cost of the service) are excluded from this subcategory. Operations with commercial aspects that primarily support instruction, research, and/or public service (for example, hospitals and ancillary support activities) are excluded. Also, excluded are activities operated as part of the institution’s endowment funds.

• Independent Operations/Federally Funded Research and Development Centers (FFDRCs). Included in this subcategory are the FFDRCs listed below; all other institutionally operated research centers should be classified as institutes and research centers in the research category.
